Our world class researchers are in the unique position to be able to foster interest in, knowledge of and study in science technology engineering and math (STEM) disciplines, with the primary goal being to ensure an educated and well-prepared warfighter as well as workforce, meeting the naval and national competitive needs.

NPS nurtures a web of partnerships with almost 40 educational, research and governmental organizations in the greater Monterey Bay Area and throughout the nation. The STEM focused offerings listed on these pages are a result of the cultivation of these partnerships.
