

Participation Evaluation Tool

Overview

Participation Eval gives students the ability to self-assess the quality of their course work on an ongoing basis. Additionally students can indicate which of their peers has significantly contributed to their learning. The instructor sets up the questions, the rating scale and quantity of times responses from students are required. At the end of the course the instructor will have an ongoing reference for the student's perception of the quality of their coursework. The instructor will also have a graph showing how many times each student was selected by another for making quality contributions to any course discussion or event. Additionally instructors may insert their own reference notes into the record.
